

Baltimore Business Journal - July 17, 2008

<http://baltimore.bizjournals.com/baltimore/stories/2008/07/14/daily38.html>

Thursday, July 17, 2008

Baltimore Ravens foundation awards $100K for physical fitness programs

Baltimore Business Journal - by Ryan Sharrow Staff

The Baltimore Ravens' charitable arm has awarded nearly $100,000 in grants to 23 nonprofit groups in the Baltimore region.

The Ravens' All Community Team Foundation divvied out grants of up to $5,000 apiece to programs or projects promoting physical fitness and nutritional education. The grants were made through the team's Plan in Motion project.

One grant will be used to fund a wrestling program for the Baltimore County Police Athletic League in Cockeysville and Hillendale. Another will be used to purchase physical education equipment for 102 students at the Norbel School in Elkridge, a school for youth with learning disabilities.

Other grant recipients include:

- Baltimore City Department of Recreation and Parks;
- Baltimore Curriculum Project -- City Springs After-School Program;
- Baltimore Curriculum Project -- Collington Square School;
- Camp Umoja;
- Child First Authority Inc.;
- Diggs-Johnson Middle Community School -- YMCA Urban Services;
- Dunbar Middle Community School -- YMCA Urban Services;
- Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program;
- Foundation for Baltimore County Public Library;
- George W.F. McMechen High School No. 77;
- Girl Scouts of Central Maryland;
- Heroes Helping Heroes;

- HOPE Worldwide Baltimore/Violetville Elementary Middle Community School;
- Maryland National Guard Youth ChalleNGe Foundation Inc.;
- Maryland School for the Blind;
- Mt. Washington Pediatric Hospital Inc.;
- Special Olympics Maryland;
- United Educational Corp.;
- YMCA at Wolfe Street Academy; and,
- YMCA of Central Maryland -- Chinquapin Community Middle.

All contents of this site © American City Business Journals Inc. All rights reserved.