Summer curfew in effect for teens in Baltimore

The Associated Press

7:42 AM EDT, June 20, 2008

Baltimore police are pledging to enforce the city's summer curfew.

Officers will be patrolling the city for young people under 18 in an effort to cut down on crime caused by teenagers on street corners.

The Dallas Nichols School will become a holding area for violators on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights this summer. Parents will have to go to the school to pick up their children.

The police department picked up more than 2,000 offenders during last year's summer curfew.

The curfew is in effect through the middle of August.
